

Confuse Me

By Pearanotta Ransome

Have you ever been confused?
Lost in reality, wrapped in vines
Trapped consisting truth or lies
Not knowing what's beyond or beneath
Close your eyes, shake your thoughts
Reveals envy belief, cold and lost
The everlasting truth may come across
Love maybe the answer, lust maybe the key
The key to lust, but also the key to love
One key two locks, one choice
Choosing makes it ohh so confusing
Torn between the two, wrong choice you may loose
