

The Hour

By Emilia Filocamo

You were
The most beautiful hour,
The one which wedges in between
The evening and
The sky when
The day is moist of fight and
The voices go to'
The houses.
You were
The step
On the door, that noise of return which all do
The dear things when they stop
The distance and come close to us .

© 2011 Emilia Filocamo