

I Finished One Book

By G David Schwartz

I finished one book and must start another that is the way they say to make the magician a bit more clever
But who has been here but me and you
Telling about the pasturing done buy Jane and Sue
Just as they attended that so slow toy move
You were at the end of the book and the beginning of the fog
So both allow me and let me too
Say this one good thought I think up to you
The shards of paper clipped and throw away
Are no longer looked after so have nothing more to say
