

The Infinite Ecstasy

By Juliette Beswick Pokletar

Myriads of gleaming candle lights
In a spacious darkness

A blackness that is repeated
With an incessant diverging of fervent colors

A mirage of perpetual eruptions of inner mind

An eminent ecstasy of emerging eternity!

Elusive clusters of embalmed darkness

A jovial monstrous epoch of non-existence

The alluring masked death of unknown silence
That plays a delusive golden music

A life of death extending with no limits in all dimensions
That illumines experience of celestial captivation

The nonentity of past, present, and future

Unceasing manifestations of nebulous visions

The dilemma of oblivion in the loneliness of life

Reaching animate death of never ending time!

King of life and light! King of death and darkness!

Forever alone, apart from all things
The heart of envision

Space, the infinite ecstasy!!
