

Wild Woman Prayer

By Kristine Y. Snow

I pray to the Goddess
I bow to Mother Earth
I pray with Kali, in her ultimate reality
I kneel at the knee of Saraswati
To learn from her ultimate knowledge
I pray to Chantico and Pele, Rulers of Fire
And to Metzli, Goddess of Moon and Marriage
Astrild, Goddess of Love
I ask the rain of Hinakuluiau and Atla

I speak to the earth in the name of all females
Whose souls will live on for eternity.

I protect and honor life
I respect those who are different from me
I cherish those who are near to me
I pray for those in times of sickness,
Both physical and spiritual.

I beg for discipline in order to learn from others.
I bless those who are in need
And pray that they have the power to help themselves.
I ask that they have the strength and the wisdom
Needed to follow their dreams,
No matter where they might lead.

May they be fierce
May they be tender
May they be strong
May they be caring
May they be reassuring
May they be life-giving
May they be selfless
And may they become the Goddess within
